The most comprehensive exhibition of French painter Claude Monet's work in Canada in two decades, Claude Monet's Secret Garden will trace the career of this pivotal figure in Western art history. This exhibition will present thirty-eight paintings spanning the course of Monet's long career from the unparalleled collection of the Musée Marmottan Monet, Paris. The exhibition will culminate in a major series of paintings executed in his famous gardens in the French village of Giverny, where Monet lived from 1883 to the end of his life. His distinctive renderings of weeping willows, waterlilies and the Japanese bridge in his renowned garden are among the most iconic images of Western painting. The Vancouver showing will be the only presentation of the exhibition in North America.

Onsite / Offsite: Tsang Kin-Wah

Spread across two locations, Hong Kong artist Tsang Kin-Wah will create a site-specific text work for the Gallery's exterior, as well for the Gallery's Offsite location. This large-scale composition transforms English texts to form intricate floral and animal patterns. Onsite, on Howe Street, Tsang covers the building with text spiraling up the façade like vines, composed of discriminatory language found in Vancouver newspaper editorial columns from the 1980s. At Offsite, Tsang continues to use adverse rhetoric but contrasts it with voices of inclusion to compose floral patterns that form the shape of a dragon.
